

Letter to the editor

Good Morning wonderful people bringing the SJ Wire to us.

Jarrah bushwalking – beautiful article from Jeremy Perey sadly ruined by picture of walkers in a PINE forest – come on SJWire – you can do better than that.

Victoria, Jarrahdale

Hi Victoria,

Thank you for your comments regarding the "Jarrah Bushwalking" article - we appreciate your feedback!

The article speaks broadly about bushland in the Darling Range which is where the pic is taken (pine forest at Gooralong). This pine forest forms part of the Bibbulmun Track.

The photograph used to accompany this story was selected intentionally due to the tone and mood of the image- the father, son and daughter walking together, experiencing nature- and we felt that it complimented the article well.

We do acknowledge that the tree species featured in the image are not specifically the tree species as mentioned in the article. From the images we had available to use, the creative decision was made that the tree type was not as important as the mood created by the family walking together through the forest. Overall, the majority of our readers respond more emotively to people-centric images than to those of just naturescapes, and we aim to have our readers actively engage with our stories.

Again, thank you for your feedback- it will assist us to continue to grow and improve. We are thrilled that you're reading and supporting the SJ Wire and look forward to speaking with you again soon.

Kindly,
Jenni & Stacey
